“A society is truly human when without reservations it protects and respects the dignity of every person from conception until the moment of his or her natural death. However, should it decide to “get rid” of its members in the greatest need of protection, it would be behaving in a profoundly inhuman and also distorted manner with regard to the equality obvious to every person of good will of the dignity of all people, in all stages of life.” Pope Benedict XVI, November 7, 2011.
